"Well, well," said the absent-minded professor, as he stood knee-deep in the bath-tub, "what did I get in here for?" Our own Victorians are sometimes as bad as the professor, i.e., when they are absent-minded enough to call for a glass of ale at their bar or club, and not to specify "Allsopp's Ale." It is for them to decide whether they drink the best Ale on the market or an inferior brew. Wise ones remember to demand "Allsopp's." It is on draught at all leading hotels and cafes. If your dealer cannot supply you with a keg for home consumption, please remember to ask him to procure "for you from us. We import Allsopp's Burton-on-Trent XXXX, the best that's brewed, direct from the famous Brewery at Burton-on-Trent, England, and distribute it in casks, small and large.

Bulgaria Consents to Principle of Compensation to Turkey

CABINET REACHES DECISION

Reserve Troops Dismissed and Envoy Sent to Constantinople

Sofia, Oct. 27.—The Bulgarian government today informed the representatives of the foreign powers here of its acceptance of the principle of paying compensation to Turkey, which has been the burden of persistent diplomatic representations during the past fortnight on the part of all the great powers.

This decision was arrived at by the cabinet after a long debate, in which Emperor Ferdinand used all his influence in favor of peace with compensation.

As a further step in the direction of peace, 60,000 reserve soldiers will be discharged tomorrow, leaving the army at its normal strength of 60,000. The government, within a day or two, will send a plenipotentiary to Constantinople to negotiate a treaty with Turkey.

FIGHT FOR POUREN

Another Court Judgment in the Case of the Russian Refugee at New York

New York, Oct. 27.—An effort to secure freedom for Count Zepelin, the Russian refugee accused of various crimes and under detention pending a decision on the Russian government's application for his extradition, came to naught today through a decision by Judge Holt in the United States court here.

Congressman Herbert Parsons, counsel for the accused, asked the court yesterday to vacate the second warrant of arrest secured by the Russian counsel, which was served upon Pouron, immediately upon the receipt there of an order from Washington releasing him from custody under the first warrant. The ground of the application was that no certificate had been issued by the secretary of state to the Russian representatives, as provided in the treaty with Russia covering cases of the kind. The court held that the issuance of such a certificate in the first proceeding was sufficient. Judge Holt referred the Pouron matter to Samuel M. Hitecheek, United States commissioner of extradition proceedings, instructing Commissioner Hitecheek "to proceed with the hearing and take what further action is necessary in the case."

COAL MINERS CONFER

Special Convention of Pittsburg District U. M. W. Held to Consider Some Questions

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—A special convention of district number five, United Mine Workers of America, representing 30,000 miners, in the Pittsburg district, convened here today.

President Freehan, of the district, on calling the meeting to order, said that while the convention was gathered under extraordinary circumstances, having assembled against the will of the district officers, the following questions would be considered:

"The parents of miners under 21 years old to sign papers releasing the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company from damage under the new liability law."

"The using of the so-called safety explosives."

"Operators refusing to comply with the agreement on deductions and agreements on the increase in the amount of wages checked off."

Pres. Lewis, of the miners' organization, is expected to address the convention tomorrow.

Loss Through Bird Slaughter

New York, Oct. 27.—Wm. Dutcher, president of the national association of Audubon societies, declared at the annual convention of the association at the natural museum of arts today that Americans were robbing themselves by allowing an annual crop loss of $300,000,000 through the destruction of insect-eating birds. He called for a fund to fight the commercial bird killers in every state.

AIRSHIP TRIUMPH OF COUNT ZEPPELIN

Makes Long Trip With Prince Henry of Prussia as His Companion

Friedrichsaven, Oct. 27.—Prince Henry of Prussia spent several hours in the air today as the guest of Count Zepelin, who made an ascension in his remodeled airship at a comparatively early hour. Not only did the prince thoroughly enjoy his experience, but he sat at the steering wheel for many miles of the flight, guiding the movements of the craft and compelling it to execute all kinds of complicated manoeuvres. Prince Henry's satisfaction at the great flight was unbounded, and he has expressed it in a telegram which he sent to the Emperor. "Under Zepelin's guidance, I felt just as safe as on my own flagship."

Capt. Mischke was also a passenger when the start was made, in the direction of Oberlingen to the northward of Constance, but Count Zepelin himself at the wheel. The airship rose to an altitude of 600 feet, and moving rapidly against a strong wind, soon disappeared behind a bank of clouds. Soon messages began to arrive from the towns in the Rhine valley announcing the passage of the airship, but about two o'clock in the afternoon a sonorous sound from the sky indicated that the craft was returning. Soon it appeared above the thronged streets of Constance, where the Prince gracefully saluted in acknowledgement of the ovation from the cheering crowds below.

After maneuvering above Lake Constance, in full view of the city for some time, the airship made its way towards the Swiss frontier, disappearing in the direction of the Tyrol. It returned to its moorings about sunset. Capt. Mischke said that the Prince was anxious to remain for a few more flights, but that he was uncertain whether his engagements would permit. The Prince expressed himself as astonished to find that the lengthy body of the airship showed only the slightest vibration. He regarded the vertical steering gear as simply perfect.

METHODS USED BY FINANCIERS

Part of Story of Mr. Morse's Wrecking of Bank of North America

LARGE OVER-CERTIFICATION

Testimony Given By A. H. Curtis, Who Was President of the Bank

New York, Oct. 27.—The expected split in the case of Charles W. Morse, bank promoter, financier and "ice trust" organizer, and Alfred H. Curtis, president of the National Bank of North America, both of whom are on trial for alleged violation of the national banking laws, came today with the swearing in of Curtis as the first witness for his own defence.

Before calling the former president of the suspended National Bank of North America to the stand in his own defence, former Judge W. M. K. Olcott, Curtis' attorney, announced that he had persuaded his client "to tell all the facts."

Mr. Curtis testified that as cashier of the Bank of North America, he had overcertified checks to the amount of $40,000,000. Morse was at the time vice-president and director of the bank. During an absence abroad Mr. Morse was deposed by President Edwards. Upon his return he obtained control of the bank by purchasing a majority of the stock. Mr. Curtis recounted how, after ousting Edwards, Morse installed Curtis as president.

Morse, the witness testified, carried a balance of between $100,000 and $150,000 with the bank, and had brought a great many customers and depositors to it. When the Carroll loan on 40,000 shares of ice trust had come up for renewal, in the name of Braun of Brause, Mr. Morse had instructed him, the witness said, to put it through, telling him that he would stand back of it and guarantee it. At the time, Curtis testified, he supposed Morse to be a very rich man, having heard of his wealth estimated at $22,000,000. Considering this, it was not extraordinary, he thought, that he could have Morse's guarantee as fully protective. The witness then went into details relative to the transaction, whereby 2,000 of the 4,000 shares of ice securities held by the bank had been sold to Mrs. Golsheen at $24,580. The remaining 2,000 shares had also netted a profit of $24,580, and this Mr. Morse had returned into the bank, refusing to accept it for himself, although clearly entitled to it.

Other loans with ice stock as collateral had been made by the witness, he declared, notably those to Davidson Brown, but always on the recommendation of Mr. Morse, and after he had signified that he stood back of them and guaranteed them.

DEATH FROM THIRST

Prospector Who Perished in Death Valley Leaves Record of His Sufferings

Los Angeles, Oct. 27.—Dying of thirst in the desert of Death Valley, R. P. Pratt, prospector of the Grapevine district, in the Argus mountains, was found dead by another man. He left a record of his sufferings on pages of a diary found by his side.

Pratt, after being informed that the trip was a dangerous one, started for Mojave and several days succeeded in finding water. He finally entered a region completely destitute of moisture and lost his way. Here the pages of the diary contains entries, fast becoming illegible, that read as follows: "No water today. Must get over the next range to find my trail back. Things ahead look bad. Can't find my trail. No water now two days. Am about all in. Will be able to hold out through tomorrow. I can't stand the pace. Have left my grub and blankets. Am going blind with the sun and headache. Lips and tongue cracked and bleeding. Must get water today or I'll cash in."

This is last legible entry, although Pratt had previously foreseen his fate and left a request that notification of his death be sent to his brothers.

Both steamers left New York last Saturday. The Luckenbach carried thirty passengers, who were transferred to the Philadelphia. Capt. McLean and thirty-nine of his crew remained on the Luckenbach. The passengers of the Luckenbach are all safe.

Lever, a Liberal member of parliament, recently got judgment to the amount of $250,000 and costs against the same publications on a similar charge, and a suit of the same nature brought by Joseph Watson & Sons, of Leeds, was settled out of court by the payment of damages to an amount said to exceed $250,000.

Other firms accused by Lord Northcliffe's newspapers of being parties in the game combine, have suits pending.

Lord Northcliffe is at present in the United States.

BAD TIME AT SEA

Passengers on Steamship Furnessia
Made Uncomfortable By Accident to Engine

New York, Oct. 27.—When the steamship Furnessia arrived from Glasgow today, her 308 passengers, through their spokesmen, expressed great relief over the safe ending of the voyage.

For thirteen hours last Wednesday the ship was helpless during a ninety miles an hour gale, due to an accident in her engine room. A crosshead slipped out of place, a matter usually easily enough remedied in calm weather, but with such a storm as was then raging, the machinists being able to work with only one hand while holding on with the other to prevent themselves being knocked down, it became a very tedious job.

Meanwhile the waves were making a plaything of the big liner, and the passengers were tossed even out of their bunks. The accident caused her to be a day late in reaching port.

Several other districts have joined in a petition for action along similar lines.

FIFTY YEARS OF AGE

President Roosevelt Receives Many Congratulations on His Jubilee Birthday

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Roosevelt observed his fiftieth anniversary today simply. He attended to his executive duties as usual, and except for the reception of a delegation from the Hungarian Republican club, of New York, in the east room of the White House, and the receipt of a large number of congratulatory messages, some floral tributes, and gifts from the members of the family, the day was the same to him as any other day.

Later in the afternoon, the President donned his khaki riding uniform and rough rider hat and went for a horseback ride, remaining out until six o'clock.

There was a jolly family party at the White House this evening. No guests were present.

King Edward of Great Britain sent one of the first of the congratulatory messages received. He said: "I request you will accept my cordial congratulations upon the occasion of your birthday, together with my best wishes for your welfare and prosperity."

PIONEERS ARE GUESTS OF THE NATIVE SONS

Old Acquaintances Are Renewed at Pleasant Function Last Evening

Old times were talked over last night and old acquaintances renewed at the annual reception tendered by the members of the Native Sons of British Columbia, to the members of the Pioneers' association. This annual event is always greatly enjoyed by the members of both orders and among the pioneers who were the guests of the Native Sons last night were many who have been associated with the history of the country from a time anterior to the founding of Victoria. Over seventy-five Native Sons were present to greet their guests all of whom thoroughly enjoyed the warmth of the welcome extended. After the regular business of the Native Sons' meeting was transacted the Pioneers were welcomed by Past Chief Factor Fox who, in a short speech, referred to the prominent part which many of the pioneers present had taken in the building of Victoria and the province and on behalf of the Post extended the heartiest of greetings to the guests. A varied programme was rendered, the following participating: J. H. Griffin, E. F. Walker, Herbert Kent, T. Pridmore, G. H. Barnard, M. P. F. Redfern, L. Wallace, D. W. Higgins, Thomas Burns, George Anderson, H. E. Levy, H. Bishop, F. S. Hussey, W. Haynes, P. T. Johnson, Thornton Fell, Alderman Meston, T. B. Pearson, William Moore, F. Sylvester, T. Argyle, J. York, T. Nicholson, G. Richardson, F. Sims, A. B. Erskine, J. Woolcock, F. Corne, A. Wilson, George Anderson, Judge Harrison, E. H. Hisecks, S. Phillips, F. Allatt, J. Bowker.

SIBERIAN SALMON

Danish Fishermen Monopoly Concessions in Okhotsk Sea From the Russian Government

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—The Alaska Packers' association and other firms, which have made millions of men who only a few years ago were quick to see and develop opportunities, at last face competition on a large scale. It will not be on their own grounds, where they have practically a monopoly of the industry, but on the coast of Siberia and in the Okhotsk sea, where Danish capitalists have secured a twelve years' concession from the Russian government for the salmon monopoly.

H. Plaun and C. E. Thielmann, who have spent the summer investigating the new fisheries for their countrymen in Denmark, have arrived from the Far East in the liner China. They will make a trip of inspection to some of the southeastern Alaska salmon canneries, proceeding by way of Copenhagen, Denmark, to make a detailed report on what they have found. That report, they do not hesitate to say, will be very favorable.

"Our concession," said Plaun, "has already been obtained from the Russian government and is the only one of its kind on the Siberian coast, except the small local yearly concessions under which Japanese firms have been doing business for some time. The best part of our territory covers the coast about the mouths of the Palama, Natancha and Treisk rivers, emptying into the Okhotsk sea. The salmon there are like those of Alaska for plenteousness, and are of the deep sea Alaskan kind."

"Next year a cannery is to be established by our company at the mouth of the Palama, which is 2,100 miles north of Vladivostok, through which port we expect to ship most of our catch to Europe by way of the Trans-Siberian railroad. Satisfactory concessions for that part of the business have also been secured. The necessary coast and steam tenders will, of course, be ready for business next session, and there is little doubt that the industry will grow. The excellence and vast extent of the salmon have been proved.

"Strange as it may seem, only the Japanese have utilized these great salmon fisheries thus far, and only under

"Strange as it may seem, only the Japanese have utilized these great salmon fisheries thus far, and only under the temporary concessions. One hundred and fifty schooners, under the Japanese flag, have been making yearly catches of about 150 tons each, the salmon being salted down instead of canned. But these schooners could never begin to supply the demand even among the people of the northern part of Japan for the magnificent salmon to be obtained in the great fisheries.

"We were the first white men to visit the native Lamuts in the centre of north Kamchatka. They resemble the native North American Indians more than they do any other race and seem to have no fixed abode, following the roving herds of reindeer. In their country, as well as elsewhere, we found evidence of great mineral richness. It will not surprise us, in fact, if a second Klondike is not discovered in that part of the world some of these days."

RECEIVER APPOINTED

Breakfast Food Company Finds Sales Too Small to Satisfy Its Creditors

Quincy, Ills., Oct. 26.—It developed last night that Judge Albert Akers has appointed John E. Linnehan, secretary and manager of the Battle Creek Breakfast Food Company, Limited, manufacturers of Egg-O-See, with general offices in Chicago, as receiver of the property and business of the company. The action was taken yesterday quietly on the application of J. S. McCoy, of Buffalo, manager of the Buffalo plant of the company, representing, as stated in the petition the interests involved. Mr. Linnehan at once furnished the required bond of $200,000, secured by the Illinois Surety company.

The company is a partnership association, organized under the Michigan law and capitalized at $1,000,000, with five thousand shares of preferred and the same number of common stock at $100 par value. The total outstanding shares are 6,315. The remainder is unissued treasury stock.

Without mentioning the firm of Cassidy & Gray, the Quincy brokers who went out of business with heavy obligations in September, and with which J. W. Cassidy, one of the largest stockholders of the Egg-O-See company, disclaimed connection, his brother being senior partner, the petition recites that creditors of the company became alarmed and its credit impaired. A trust deed was then executed by the company to secure bonds on the company to the amount of $400,000. The Buffalo mill closed down on Sept. 20 and the Quincy mill on Oct. 12, and by reason of the cessation of these mills the growth of the company may become a total loss, and the value of the great amount of advertising lost. The outstanding debts of the company now aggregate $350,000 exclusive of the bond issue. In order to prevent irreparable loss to the stockholders and creditors of the company, the petition asked the appointment of a receiver.

AUTUMN SESSION BEGAN LAST NIGHT

Conference of Congregational and Reformed Episcopal Churches of Interest

The fourth autumn association of the Congregational and Reformed Episcopal Churches and Ministers opened in the local Congregational church last night.

The president, Rev. T. W. Gladstone, presided, and Rev. John Reid, D. D., conducted the service of worship and praise. Following this opening, Dr. Spencer, of Emmanuel Baptist church, spoke briefly, as did also Rev. John Dean. On the arrival of the delegates from the delayed boat, the Chairman, an able address of welcome was delivered by Rev. W. Leslie Clay on behalf of the Ministerial Association of this city.

Rev. T. W. Gladstone delivered the presidents address, which was warmly received. Rev. John Simpson, M. A., of Vancouver, dealt with "The Re-statement of Christian Doctrine," in an admirable manner. The spirit of God is to be the guide and the truth as it is in Christ, is the object of all our quest. Every barrier in the way must be invaded in the interests of truth.

Today's programme promises even better things than were enjoyed last night. These meetings are free to the public, who are cordially welcomed. Special attention is drawn to the afternoon and evening addresses. The programme follows:

10 a. m.—Worship and praise, Rev. Herman A. Carson, B. A.

10.30—"Jesus and the World," Rev. Merton Smith.

11.15—"Jesus and Obedience," Rev. Wm. Orr Work.

12—Conference appointment of committees.

12.30—Lunch.

2 p. m.—Business; separate sessions.

St. Andrew's Church Meeting

A meeting of the male members and adherents of St. Andrew's church to consider matters growing out of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, as well as other features of Christian work will be held this evening in the lecture room at 8 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. W. Leslie Clay, asks that there be a full attendance.

Blaze at Nursery

Damage to the extent of about $300 was done to a portion of the nursery of Mrs. Flevin, Haywood avenue, last evening about 7.30 o'clock, the fire originating in the room furnished though the actual cause of the blaze is not known. The blaze, which at one time, threatened to assume serious proportions, attracted a considerable crowd the reflection being visible a long distance. A line of hose was laid from the nearby hydrant and after half an hour's work the firemen subdued the fire.

Piaggio

Gulio Piaggio died at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday in his 77th year. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. McPhee, Gamma street, and four grandchildren. The late Mr. Piaggio was a Cariboo miner and came to this country in 1859. For many years he was a resident of the Happy Valley district. He was 77 years of age.

The funeral will take place from the Smith Undertaking parlors, Yates street, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, to the Roman Catholic cathedral and interment will be made at Ross Bay cemetery.

Hon. Mr. Bowser Returns

Hon. W. J. Bowser, the attorney general, who only on Monday left his room where he has remained for some ten days under the orders of his physician, came over from Vancouver last evening, and will be found in his office at the Parliament buildings today. The night after his return from his trip to the East, he spoke with his usual vigor at a meeting in Vancouver city in the interests of Mr. Cowan, but almost immediately afterwards a severe cold developed, and a very serious attack of pneumonia was threatened, necessitating his compulsory retirement from both street and platform. He was happily, however, able to leave his room, and cast his vote for the winning Conservative candidate.

Mr. Lubbe Explains

The following letters appears in the Times yesterday:

To the Editor,—I much regret reading in your issue on Monday night the article entitled "Railway and City." As I am in a position to know that the article is untrue, I think it is only fair to state the facts to you. On Friday evening I notified the manager of the B. C. Electric Railway company that unless they could still further reduce their water consumption I feared that by Monday the balancing reservoir would be too low for effective service. The railway company during Saturday made every effort to cut down the consumption and endeavored during Saturday night and Sunday morning to run without water entirely. This they were unable to do, and Mr. Goward was notified at 2.30 a. m. Every effort was then made to get a notice in Sunday morning's Colonist stating that it might be necessary in a few days to discontinue the lighting service at 11 p. m. Unfortunately, however, that paper had by that time gone to press. On Sunday I visited Goldstream and found the water so low in the balancing reservoir that I was forced to give orders for the water to be cut off at 11 a. m. I notified the manager of the tramway company to that effect. I must say my principal regret was that notification could not be given to the general public before Monday morning. You will, therefore, I am sure, admit that to suggest any collusion for political purposes is quite untrue and should never have been made.

THEODORE LUBBE, Manager, Esquimalt Waterworks Co., Victoria, B. C., October 27th, 1908.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnes who arrived in town yesterday are stopping at the Driford.

A. Lucas of Kaslo is staying at the Empress.

Edward Stone and Roy J. Brooks of Fairbanks, Alaska, arrived in town yesterday, and are stopping at the King Edward.

R. G. and Frank Porter of Che-mahnu, who are interested in timber, came to town yesterday and are registered at the King Edward.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Meeting of Executive Football Association Next Thursday—Important Business

It is announced that there will be a meeting of the executive of the Victoria District Football league on Thursday evening for the purpose of deciding what matches shall be played next Saturday. Although several of the officials have decided that the games postponed from the 17th inst. shall take place it is understood that a protest from the Cedar Hill association, arguing that it is not right that they should be called on to play Esquimalt immediately after having had a game with that aggregation, will have to be considered. The general opinion, however, is that the deferred contests will take place as originally proposed.

Some Odds.

Local opinion as to the respective chances of Cocksire 11 and Poor Boy in today's race at Newmarket appears to be somewhat diverse. The majority of horsemen, however, are inclined to the belief that Poor Boy while not first choice, is likely to carry off the bulk of the money. The odds on some of the runners follows: Poor Boy, 1-2-1; Monte Rose, 6-1-1; Sir Archibald, 10-5-2; Lucus, 10-4-2; Simonson, 14-6-2.

SAANICH RESIDENT KILLED YESTERDAY

Body of Edward Griffiths Was Found Short Distance From Home

With face and skull shattered beyond recognition, the body of Edward Griffiths was found about 150 yards from his home, Saanich road, a short distance past the V. & S. railway crossing, by Mrs. Griffiths, early last evening. Having prepared the evening meal, she went to call her husband, who, it was supposed, was busy about the chicken ranch, which he has maintained for some six or seven years. Mr. Griffiths did not respond, and while returning and wondering where he had gone, she encountered the remains. Distracted with grief, she rushed into the house, and as soon as her terrified children learned the source of the trouble, neighbors were notified. The latter informed the authorities and at 6 o'clock last night Provincial Officer Carter drove to the scene of the disaster and brought the body to the city.

While it is probable that an inquest will be ordered, the indications are that death was the result of suicide. The deed was committed with a single barreled Stevens shotgun, which was found lying at the feet of deceased, with muzzle pointing toward his head. Apparently the unfortunate man had placed the gun to his left eye and deliberately pressed the trigger. The entire top of the skull was carried away with the charge, and instant death must have been the result.

Some years ago Mr. Griffiths used a razor on his throat with suicidal intent. He was discovered in a serious condition, but through the promptness with which medical assistance was called and the attention received at a local hospital, he recovered normal health. Since then he has been managing a chicken ranch on a large scale at Saanich, with considerable success. Beyond the fact that he was deemed somewhat eccentric, there is no cause for the rash act, the outcome of which was fatal.

Mr. Griffiths was about 50 years of age. He leaves a widow and several daughters, the eldest of whom is 17 years.

CALEDONIA'S MACHINERY FOR LIGHTING PLANT

Was Taken From Wrecked Stern-wheeler to Be Used at Prince Rupert

The boiler and part of the machinery taken from the stranded river steamer Caledonia, owned by Foley, Welch & Stewart, and which sunk in the Skeena river two months ago, have been brought down safely on scows and landed on the shore near the warehouse at Prince Rupert. Rumors are now afloat to the effect that this firm proposes installing an electric lighting plant of its own and that the boiler will be used for the purpose, owing to the delay in the re-starting of the electric lighting plant of the British Columbia T. and Timber company, and the uncertainty as to when a settlement of that company's affairs will be effected.

SEA WOLF'S SCHOONER IS REPORTED SAFE

Fishing Schooner Sea Bird Put Into Metlakatla for Shelter After a Stormy Cruise

Capt. Alex. McLean, concerning whose sealing exploits so much fiction has been written as fact, is now master of the fishing schooner Sea Bird, which operates from Prince Rupert, and for the past few days there has been some anxiety regarding the safety of the vessel. The Sea Bird, which was purchased by a syndicate at Prince Rupert to cruise for halibut, was missing for eight days. She is now reported arriving safely at Metlakatla, where she put in for shelter. The schooner, in charge of Capt. McLean, Sea Wolf and a crew of six men, was driven from the fishing banks by the terrific gales, raging for days with hurricane force. Thirteen days out and eight days overdue caused the owners considerable anxiety. The fishing patrol boat Edison was despatched to hunt her up. The Sea Bird brought in six tons of halibut and other fish.

INFLEXIBLE BEATS ALL OCEAN RECORDS

H. M. S. Indomitable has not been long permitted to retain her laurels at the world's fast cruiser. Although the results of the speed trials of the cruiser Inflexible on the Clyde are being strictly kept from the public, our Glasgow correspondent learns from a reliable source that she made the extraordinary speed of 27 1/2 knots, and but for the fog would have done even better. The Inflexible has, therefore, beaten the Fairfield-built cruiser Indomitable by fully a quarter of a knot and the new Cunarders by one and a half knots. The Inflexible was built by Messrs. Brown, Limited, Clydebank, and has beaten all merchant ships and British cruisers. She has just left the Clyde to be commissioned.

AFTER THE BATTLE

Until Monday night we were all either Liberals, Conservatives or something else, which was neither the one nor the other. Today we are all Canadians. The result of the elections is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is entrenched in power during the life of another Parliament, and there is no use in speculating now as to what will happen when another election is brought on. We know, for he himself has told us, that Sir Wilfrid has appealed to the electorate for the last time. We know that the people of Canada have given him a majority sufficiently strong to enable him to carry out any policy which he may adopt. His commanding personality rose superior to the assaults made upon the conduct of his administration. His position before the country is unique. We suppose that there will be the usual assortment of charges and counter charges of corrupt practices and so on; but the fact remains that the people of the Dominion have decided to trust their affairs in his hands as long as he intends to remain in power, for we assume we may accept as final his declared intention to withdraw from public life before another election. As loyal Canadians, all Conservatives must take account of these facts and in their treatment of questions as they arise must remember that their first duty is to their country and not to their party. Mr. Barnard made one observation in his last speech in the Victoria Theatre, which breathed the true sentiment of a Canadian. He declared that he would stand by British Columbia, no matter if in so doing he would be compelled to oppose his political party. This is the right principle. Let us all put party in the second place and our country first.

While the policy pursued by the Conservative party leaders and the Conservative press in the East did not commend itself to a majority of the constituencies, it can hardly fail to have a profound influence upon the future of the administration of Canadian affairs. It is not necessary now to go into particulars regarding the charges laid at the door of the administration. We have the admitted fact that there was ground for such charges. Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself admitted this, and has promised that he will see to it that all just causes of complaint shall be removed. He has a splendid opportunity to purify the administration of public affairs, and the fierce campaign that has been waged for better government will undoubtedly have a powerful influence in determining the manner in which affairs will hereafter be carried on. There is surrounding the Liberal ministry, as there is apt to be surrounding any administration that has been long entrenched in power, a coterie which seeks to advance its own interests regardless of those of the country, although in the present instance its effrontery has been greater and its rapacity unprecedented. It will be to Sir Wilfrid's interest to break this up, not only because he has promised to do so, but because he will wish to leave a legacy of decent administration to his party when he takes leave of it. Therefore unpleasant as were the chief issues of the campaign, as discussed in the East, the discussion of them cannot fail to have an excellent effect upon the tone of public life.

The result of the elections in this province has an important lesson for those who care to understand it. Out of four contests, the Conservatives carried three seats. No better proof of the unpopularity of the Laurier administration in this province can be asked. Mr. Jardine, the Liberal candidate in Westminster riding, is a gentleman of great force of character and possesses many qualities, which normally might be looked upon as a guarantee of success. Mr. McInnes, the Liberal candidate in Vancouver is forceful, energetic and an untiring campaigner. Mr. Templeman had the prestige of a position in the cabinet. This looked like a formidable combination and yet it went down to defeat. Doubtless various causes contributed to the Conservative victories, but summed up they signify that the policy of the Laurier ministry towards this province, and in relation to the Dominion generally has not commended itself to the electorate. At the last election British Columbia returned a solid phalanx of Liberal members. It is open to doubt if more than two will be returned at the present election, when all the constituencies have spoken. It is to be hoped that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will appreciate the significance of this change in the sentiment and take notice that the views of the people of British Columbia must receive greater consideration in the future than has been accorded them in the past.

The effect of the election upon the Liberal party can hardly fail to be great for the reasons given above, and for the additional reason that new men will be forced to the front. Prominent among these is Mr. Mackenzie King, a gentleman of exceptional qualities, who it may be assumed is slated for the control of a Department of Labor. Mr. King has exhibited in his official work very great sagacity, and if he possesses equal constructive ability he can hardly fail to become a very important factor in Canadian public life. We suppose that we may expect to hear more of Mr. Sifton in the near future, and in view of the very remarkable result of the voting in Ontario it may be reasonably expected that every effort will be made by the Liberals, not only to strengthen the hold they have on that province, but to increase it. The vote in Ontario and in New Brunswick show that provincial elections are not a very safe guide as to how a province will go in a federal contest. We look for a reorganization of the cabinet, not necessarily before a session of Parliament, but within a twelvemonth.

What the effect upon the Conservative party will be is problematical. Mr. Borden put up a manly fight. The weakness of his case lay in the fact that he had no definite comprehensive constructive plan which he could promise to inaugurate upon coming into office. The people of Canada are deeply concerned in everything which will tend to the development of the country, and there are so many great projects on hand that Mr. Borden could not launch a new one. The Liberals have committed the country to great undertakings, and if the Conservatives had been successful they would have been bound to carry them through. Therefore Mr. Borden, as an honest man, could not appeal to the people on any broad policy of development, because he knew that, if he succeeded, the legacy of work that he would inherit from his predecessors would tax the resources of Canada for some years to come. He has made an excellent record, and his course through a trying campaign has been one that has won for himself the confidence and esteem, not only of his political friends, but also of his opponents. It is very clear, however, that while retaining the trusted leader, the Conservative party must bring new men to the front. Between now and the next Dominion election there will be ample time for such men to be brought forward. If the party stands still, if it continues a policy of criticism only, it will remain in the cool shades of opposition for a long time to come. It must catch the constructive spirit which Sir John Macdonald inspired it with. It was well said by an intimate friend of Sir John, after the result of the election was announced last night: "A government that is carrying on a great undertaking like a transcontinental railway cannot be defeated in Canada, and this not because of the direct influence of the railway company, but because of the appeal such a work makes to the imagination of the people."

For ourselves we propose to go on as we have been going on, advocating those things which seem, in our humble judgment, to be in the best interests of the country, no matter by whom they are advanced. The Colonist has a higher aim than party success. It would like to serve its day and generation by promoting as far as it is able, all projects and principles of legislation which will tend to make the country prosperous and the people happy and contented. We had hoped for a different result. We looked forward to the time when under the prudent and honorable leadership of Mr. Borden a new ministry would have been formed and a better era in Canadian public life would be inaugurated. But the country is greater than any political party, and so long as things go well with it we can bear with equanimity the slings and arrows of adverse political fortune.

The Times remarks: "It is up to Mr. McBride and Mr. Barnard to do something for Victoria." So it is. Will our contemporary promise that Mr. Barnard can reckon upon the support of the Liberals in any effort he may make in that direction?

The death of Capt. R. Collister removes one of the oldest and most respected residents of Victoria. His advanced years must have led his widow and children to realize that he could not withstand a serious illness, yet his loss is none the less a bereavement to them. He held a responsible position as Inspector of Halls, and discharged its duties honorably and well.

It is possibly not without significance that China is today far more courageous and aggressive in her attitude towards Japan than formerly. She has very promptly held the Japanese government responsible for the fighting that occurred a few days ago between Chinese and Japanese soldiers in Northern Korea and has demanded compensation and the punishment of those who caused the collision.

The marriage of Princess Alexandra Victoria, daughter of Prince Frederick, Duke of Schleswig Holstein, to Prince August William of Prussia, fourth son of Emperor William, which has just been solemnized at Berlin, amid great eclat, is greeted with manifest satisfaction by the German people, to whose imagination the fact that this is a genuine love match particularly appeals.

A statement appeared in the Times of Monday night to the effect that the prospective shortage of light and power was kept secret by the B. C. Electric Railway company in the interest of Mr. Barnard, and the name of Mr. Frank Barnard was mentioned in connection therewith. The statement was not true, for the prospective shortage was announced in the Colonist on Sunday morning and in the Times on Monday morning. The use of Mr. Frank Barnard's name in such a connection was a piece of gratuitous impertinence.

Early next month, at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute, in London, there will be considered a proposal which is of vital importance to the British Empire. This is the suggestion that the time has arrived when arrangements should be perfected for the exchange of telegrams at a penny a word throughout the Empire. The chairman, the Earl of Jersey, Hon. Mr. Heaton and others consider the plan quite feasible and believe it can be carried out much more easily than the system of Imperial penny postage was. In Australia a telegram can be sent 3,600 miles for a penny a word, and it is maintained that but for the political frontiers, telegrams could be sent from London to India, 3,200 miles at a similar rate.

Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, who is known to have been the prime mover in the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, has given the diplomatic corps of Europe something to turn over in their minds, by a recent statement. It is said that considerable apprehension has been caused in responsible German circles in consequence. "It will test the value of Germany's friendship and our alliance with her," said the Archduke, in effect, when the annexation was being concocted. "If Germany supports us loyally Austria will reciprocate the help she gives, but if she does not support us we must abandon the alliance. If we are driven by our own interests to take the latter step we shall easily be able to come to terms with the western powers and Russia, all of whom would be delighted to secure our friendship and co-operation."

One always expects something out of the ordinary from Goldwin Smith, and in this is rarely disappointed. The eminent Canadian publicist's "latest" is an expression of belief that the Imperial sentiment in the Dominion burns but faintly. Writing to the Manchester Guardian, he says: "Strenuous efforts are being made by Imperialists to detach Canada more completely from her own hemisphere and attach her more closely to Great Britain, with little success. We get on pretty well with the French, except when they become instruments of Papal policy, but I could give you strong and unpleasant proof in connection with our war against the half-breeds of Batoche, of the strength of race sentiment in French breasts. The most lively movement of a political kind in that quarter just now is one in favor of French Nationalism, headed by that rising politician, Henri Bourassa."

In the opinion of Mr. William McInnes, of the Geological Survey department, who has just returned to Ottawa from his third season's exploratory work in the country which will be traversed by the line of railway to Hudson's Bay, that remote section is capable of sustaining a large farming population. The area which he visited did not promise well for mineral development, though much importance can hardly be attached to this opinion, owing to the fact that this examination of the country in this respect must of necessity have been a most cursory one. We think it may be assumed, in view of the unanimity of opinion in regard to the potential wealth of the country, that the proposed railway will open up a section of Northern Canada which will ultimately prove very remunerative as a traffic producer as well as an addition to the habitable area of the Dominion.

Clearly indicative of business activity is the annual bank statement for September, which shows an improvement of the figures for August in every item. The circulation increased by $5,856,329. Deposits on demand, that is money on deposit for current business, show an increase of $7,259,503 over August, while the savings deposits increased by $2,850,915. The revival in stocks is reflected by an increase of $1,572,375 in call and short loans in Canada. To the cheapening of money in the United States is probably due the decrease shown in call and short loans by the Canadian banks abroad. As compared with August, the banks have increased their current loans for the carrying on of business in Canada by nearly two millions; current loans abroad are three millions greater. The banks increased their liabilities by $8,776,810, and their assets by $9,304,245, during September.

Why was Mr. Templeman defeated? asks a correspondent. Principally, we think, because he did not get enough votes. If our correspondent means why he did not get enough, we can only reply that to answer the question would be to go over the whole campaign, and this we do not propose to do. There is just one feature of it that may be mentioned, for it was an error by Mr. Templeman which, if he ever re-enters public life he would do well to avoid, namely, an inability on his part to distinguish between a criticism of a man's public acts and one of his private character. Mr. Templeman seemed unable to differentiate between these two things, and this helped to bring about his defeat. He chose to regard every reference to himself as a representative and a minister as an attack upon himself personally. The Colonist has no quarrel with Mr. Templeman personally, and hopes that in his enforced retirement to private life he may be prosperous and happy.

All reports would seem to indicate that the depression now prevalent over the United Kingdom is of no ordinary type. It is declared on authority that there are no less than 250,000 unemployed in London, alone. Signs are not wanting that the recovery of trade will be seriously retarded by the British business man's lack of confidence in the future. The situation is described by a London correspondent to have never been graver at this season of the year than it is today. From one end of the country to the other comes the same report of lack of employment and distress of poverty, and still the extent of the distress remains unknown. Figures issued recently showed that the occupants of workhouses and recipients of outdoor relief in London and London districts number over a quarter of a million. These figures, big as they are, do not show the full extent of the distress. The Salvation Army shelters are filled to overflowing. There the officials, who have a peculiar intimate knowledge of the London poor, declare that the symptoms are very grave.

Professor Henry Montgomery, of the University of Toronto, who has just concluded a three months' exploration trip in the interests of the new university museum, makes the interesting announcement that he found evidence tending to support the theory that a prehistoric race lived in Western Canada. During the trip Prof. Montgomery explored sixteen prehistoric mounds, three enclosures of house sites and several long earth embankments, principally in the Province of Manitoba. That cremation of the dead had been practised by the prehistoric people was shown by the presence of many crematory hearths deep down within some of these mounds. The typical burial tomulus possessed one or more burial pits containing skeletons in a sitting position and along with them pottery, stone and bone and other implements and ornaments. While most of the mounds are situated in high places, there is a series of lookout mounds upon isolated natural hills of unusual height in that otherwise level country. These are from thirty to fifty miles distant from each other, and their occupants thus by signals were capable of communicating speedily the one with the other and holding control of the entire region for hundreds of miles.

Now that we know on the authority of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, that at an early date the Empresses of the C. P. R. Atlantic line are to be transferred to these waters, there is room for some interesting speculation as to what particular port will be chosen by the company from which to operate them. Several well-informed mariners have expressed the opinion that they will be operated from Victoria, as owing to their immense size and great length it will be found impracticable to take them through the tortuous passages on the route between this island and the Terminal city. Some people are of the opinion that the company may intend to operate them from Alberni, on the completion of the branch line of railway now being built, and in support of that we have the statement of Sir Thomas made in Winnipeg some months ago that it was possible that the C. P. R. company would utilize a port on the west coast of the island for their trans-Pacific traffic. But should the ships be operated at Victoria, and this is the most satisfactory theory, it is apparent that there must be improved dockage accommodation at the outer harbor. We have here opened up a very interesting theme for local discussion, and we may on a future occasion refer to it at greater length, but this allusion to it will serve to direct public attention to the general question of dockage accommodation at this port, a matter requiring our earnest consideration.

There are six deferred elections—three in this province, namely, Comox-Atlin, Yale-Cariboo and Kootenay, and two in Quebec, namely, Chicoutimi, Saguenay and Labelle, and one in the Yukon. There were three elections by acclamation, in South York, Ontario, where Mr. W. F. McLean, an Independent Conservative, was returned, and in Rouville and St. Jean-Elievre, Quebec, in the former of which Mr. Brodeur and in the latter Mr. Demers, both Liberals, were returned. British Columbia smashed "the solid seven" beyond recognition. Nova Scotia made a bad break in the Fielding phalanx. New Brunswick surprised very many, because the provincial elections led Conservatives to expect something like a clean sweep there. Quebec did not do as well by the Conservatives as there was reason to oppose. Prince Edward Island returned to its former love. Ontario gave us all a surprise, even Sir Wilfrid Laurier, we venture to think. Manitoba did nearly as well for the Conservatives, relatively, as British Columbia. Saskatchewan came very near making it unanimous for the Liberals, and Alberta did as well for the Conservatives as any one expected. West of the Great Lakes 15 Liberals and 15 Conservatives were elected, with four deferred elections. Ontario and Quebec elected 91 Liberals and 58 Conservatives, with two deferred elections. The Maritime provinces gave 16 Liberals and 9 Conservatives. The government has an apparent majority of 50, with six seats yet vacant. Of this majority 41 are from Quebec.

King's Frugal Luncheon

The King of Italy has very frugal habits, and on one occasion when out hunting his love of simplicity led to an amusing incident. The King was quite alone, and after walking about for some time without obtaining any sport, he was at last lucky enough to shoot a fine chamois. A peasant boy who had seen the animal fall into a chasm offered to fetch its carcass for King Victor, although he had no idea of the identity of the sportsman. "Very well," said His Majesty, "I will wait here." "But what will you give me, signor?" asked the lad. "What do you want?" said the King, smiling. "Oh, a franc and half your luncheon," replied the lad. The bargain was struck and the boy went off down the mountain side, and soon returned with the body of the chamois.

The King gave him a franc, and then proceeded to divide his lunch into two equal portions, but the peasant, when he saw what King Victor had to eat, turned away contemptuously for the lunch consisted of a small loaf of black bread and a large raw onion. "No, thanks, none of that for me," exclaimed the lad. "I thought you were a gentleman, but I see you are only a poor fellow like myself."

NOTICE

A FEW CUTTING REMARKS

The purpose of a saw is to cut. It should cut easily, cut cleanly, and cut with every movement. I prefer an Atkins Saw. Its blade is "Silver Steel," recognized the world over as the finest crucible steel ever made in ancient or modern times. It is hard, close-grained and tough. It holds a sharp cutting edge longer than any other saw. Its blade tapers perfectly from thick to thin, from handle to tip. Thus it makes leeway for itself, runs easily and does not buckle. Its temper is perfect. When bent by a crooked thrust, it springs into shape without kinking. The Atkins Saw cuts—and does it best of any. We make all types and sizes of saws, but only one grade—the best.

FORMAL DECLARATION OF BARNARD'S VICTORY

Scene in Institute Hall Yesterday Afternoon—Votes By Ballot Boxes

G. H. Barnard, K.C., and a number of his supporters and Col. Gregory, representing Mr. Templeman, assembled in the Institute Hall at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to hear Returning Officer Hick check the returns of his deputies and formally announce the election of the Conservative candidate, which he finally did in a grudging way, after refusing to make any public statement and after the majority of those present had left the hall.

The proceedings were quite lengthy. The 25 boxes were brought in and ranged on the floor, and then after Mr. Hick had emptied his pockets of a lot of typewritten papers of some description, he placed them in a mail bag, in which the ballots were afterwards deposited, the first ballot box was opened by an assistant. These were tied up with tapes and sealed with little dabs of red wax. They contained a miscellaneous collection of articles besides the packages of ballot papers and the deputy returning officers' certificates. Some of them apparently, thought that everything they had been using should be placed in the boxes, and accordingly there were emptied out pens, copies of the election act, notebooks, instructions and various other articles.

In two cases the packages of ballots had been carelessly closed and the muddle had come undone. The result was that when they were taken out the packages were open Mr. Hick then took up again his pen and put them in the mail bags with the others. One of the deputies had not put in his certificate of votes polled at his booth, though the necessary information was available in other ways without recounting the ballots.

The ballot boxes had passed the night in the safe in the Post Office and were brought to Institute Hall in the afternoon. After they had been emptied of their contents they were sent back, the ballots themselves remaining in the custody of the returning officer for six days to give time for an application for a recount to be made to the court. For their safe keeping during this important interval the returning officer had provided a couple of mail sacks. One of these was apparently a new one but the other had seen much service. Conspicuous on its side was a large patch, several inches square, which had been apparently sewn on in order to conceal a rent. This patch rendered the sealing of the mouth of the sack a farce, for if evil doers sought to tamper with the sack, the patch could easily be clipped off and sewn on again. The mouths of the sacks were sealed with a small, ordinary seal with a letter by way of design belonging to Mr. Hick. Neither of the candidates nor their agents affixed their seals.

After each ballot box had been opened and the figures of the votes cast in each added up afresh by the returning officer, the figures given by the Colonist yesterday were found to be correct, and Mr. Barnard's majority stands at five. There are, however, 92 ballots which have not been counted, 22 of which were rejected and the remainder spoiled, and it is over these latter that any disputes will arise. The majority of them are said to be Barnard ballots, so that any change in the recount is likely to result in increasing Mr. Barnard's majority.

When the figuring was finished, the returning officer made out duplicate certificates of the result which he handed, one to Mr. Barnard and the other to Col. Gregory. He was then asked to make a formal declaration that Mr. Barnard was elected. This Mr. Hick, who was in a very bad humor and evidently disgusted at the result of the election, refused to do. He said that the certificates he had handed out were sufficient. But finally, just at the close when most of the people had gone, he remarked to Mr. Barnard that he declared him elected so far as the information supplied him by his deputies went. At that there was another cheer from the few left, for the crowd had insisted on giving three rousing cheers and a tiger as soon as the certificates were signed.

This reluctance to make the formal announcement is significant from the fact that some of the Liberals who lost money on the election are trying to withhold payment of their bets. Bob Kelly of Vancouver, who sent over considerable sums telegraphically yesterday to his agent not to pay his bets. One of these was the much talked of $10,000 to $5,000 wager. Col. Gregory announced yesterday that an application would be made today before county court Judge Lampman for a recount of the votes, and in view of this fact and the closeness of the result many regrets were expressed yesterday that Mr. Hick had thought fit to secure such an unsafe receptacle for ballots on which so much depends, as a patched mail bag.

The recount before Judge Lampman may not be the only aftermath of the election. One of those most prominently associated with Mr. Templeman's campaign, made the assertion on the night of the election that if the recount did not change the result, and nobody expected that, we would see Mr. Barnard's election will be contested in the courts. What grounds will be alleged is not known, but presumably the petition will cover every possible cause. There is a chance of contest from the Conservative side also. Steps are being taken to contest Mr. Smith's election. It is freely stated that there was a great deal of impersonation at Esquimaux and several Conservatives got down to the dirt in the dust to vote, found that someone had already voted in their name. The petition will probably be filed within a few days.

INDIANS HAVE HAD A POOR SEASON

Both Fishing and Hop Picking Yielded Little More Than Expenses

"From the standpoint of the Indians the past season has been poor indeed," remarked W. F. Robertson, Indian agent at Duncan, who arrived from up the line yesterday. He stated that the members of the different tribes were beginning to return to their homes from the different places where they have been engaged in fishing, hop picking and other pursuits. Their fall work, he stated, had not brought them as much return as usual. In fact, many were in debt, while the majority reported little better than the payment of expenses. While this was the case Mr. Robertson did not think that there would be any distress among the natives during the winter months. As far as he could gather they would be fairly comfortable until the advent of spring.

Those who went fishing on the Fraser river, Mr. Robertson says, did not do well by any means. Most of them earned little over 25 cents a day, which, perhaps, paid expenses. Others were not that successful and as a result were in debt.

As a result of the poor returns obtainable from that source, a large number had gone to the other side to engage in hop picking. Indians from the west coast had joined in the annual pilgrimage to Washington and, consequently, the labor market was flooded. The natural outcome was that the employers had reduced the rate of pay. Usually they offered $1 for every box filled with hops by the Indians. This year they had reduced the payment to 80 cents a box. Hence those who had gone to the other side had not done as well as they anticipated.

Besides, Mr. Robertson asserts, that the Indians are unanimous in the statement that the extent of the Washington hop fields is decreasing every twelve months. One of them, in discussing the question, had said that territory which formerly had been utilized for the cultivation of hops now was cut up into lots and was covered with buildings. This development had curtailed the field of labor on which they depended, so that, not only was there more labor than usual, but the crop was lessened to an appreciable degree.

On the whole, however, Mr. Robertson does not believe that the situation is serious. As stated, he thinks that the Indians will pull through the slack season without trouble with the possible exception of sickness among their numbers. This, he avers, is more pronounced than in the past and the indications are that it will be more than usually prevalent.

Little Girl and Donkey

The four-year-old daughter of a Washington man not long ago saw a donkey for the first time. She talked to her father a good deal touching the unusual sight. It was a "dear donkey." It was a "lovely donkey," etc. Soon the child exhausted her stock of adjectives. "And so you liked the donkey, did you?" asked the fond parent. "Oh so much, daddy," returned the youngster. "That is, I liked him pretty well. But I didn't like to hear him donk."—Lippincott's.

BATTLE OF INKERMANN DINNER TOMORROW

Campaigners' Association to Celebrate British Victory in Fitting Manner

The banquet in honor of the anniversary of the battle of Inkerman and of the surviving Crimean veterans who live in this neighborhood will be held upon Thursday evening of next week, November the 5th, at the Dominion hotel, beginning at 8.30 o'clock, under the auspices of that recent and very ambitious body, the British Campaigners' association.

This interesting celebration is announced as being only the first of a series of historical commemorations which will be so used by the members of the Campaigners' association as to have a distinctive and most appreciable educational value for it is becoming more generally and widely felt that altogether too little advantage either has been or is being taken of important events which have occurred in the tremendously varied history of the British Empire. But it will certainly not be the fault of the British Campaigners if these achievements often wonderful and always intensely interesting, are not kept fresh in the memory of the passing as well as the rising generation.

And why, going further back, than many might think of taking into retrospect, should not Cressy and Poitiers; the marvellous sea voyage of that most daring perhaps of all the adventurous seamen of England, Sir Francis Drake, who in the course of his semi-privateering trip around the Americas, became indelibly associated with the history of the Pacific Coast by landing where the great city of San Francisco now stands, and taking possession of the surrounding territories in the name of that valiant and thoroughly English Queen of England, the Tudor, Elizabeth; and it will certainly not be the fault of the British Campaigners if these achievements often wonderful and always intensely interesting, are not kept fresh in the memory of the passing as well as the rising generation.

Lord Roberts, who takes an extremely keen interest in all these matters, has done much for them, but much more remains to be accomplished. As far as is known, six of the veterans of the Crimean campaign live in this city, while several others are to be found upon the mainland, and all of them who can be induced or who will be able to attend this banquet, will be the guests of honor.

Capt. Clive Phillips-Wolley will deliver the address of the evening, or to use the phraseology which is in common use upon the other side of the line, will deliver the oration, while the vote of thanks and appreciation will be proposed by the Hon. Mr. McBride and seconded by A. E. McPhillips, K.C., M.P., who will both be quite in their element.

The invited guests include His Honor the Lieut.-Governor, His Worship Mayor Hall, Judge Lampman, the president, Canon Beaudais and all the members of the executive of the Canadian club, Lieut.-Col. Holmes, Capt. Edwards, of H. M. S. Algerine; Capt. Crawford, of H. M. S. Shearwater, and Capt. Parry, of H. M. S. Egeria; Col. Hall, Col. Prior and Col. Gregory, G. H. Barnard, M.P. and the editors of the Colonist and Times.

A number of suitable songs will be sung comprising, "The Boys' Old Brigade," "The Deathless Army," "The Soldiers of the King," "The Midshipmite," and "The Veteran's Song," while the orchestra of the Fifth regiment will be in attendance.

As only a limited number of tickets will be sold, applications should be made at the earliest possible moment, either to the secretary, W. C. Winkel, or to the president, A. J. Brace, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Mr. Stephen Jones has pledged all the resources of his culinary department as a guarantee for a supply of viands, which will be worthy of the occasion.

The association has another important matter in view, the formation of a relief fund, which will be used as occasion demands, for affording assistance to disabled veterans, who from one cause or another, have fallen into serious straits. It is hoped, at all events, that the reputation of Britain for common decency will not again be stained by such overwhelmingly shameful events as have already happened in the death of one Crimean veteran, in a workhouse; and of another, as a vagrant in the common goal. The latter disgrace is said to have occurred in the town of Portage la Prairie. Whatever may be said of the administration of affairs in the United States in some respects it is in all fairness be admitted that in the treatment, which the American government has accorded to the thousands and apparently judging from the pension roll figures, the hundreds of thousands of the veterans of their sanguinary civil war, they have shined, if sin it be, in the very excess of a golden generosity which has almost known no bounds. And this spectacle is in glaring, as well as appalling, contrast to the often beggarly and always parsimonious reception which is given by the Imperial authorities to the poor fellows who have served as privates in valiant defence of the interests and fortunes of the world-wide British empire, and who are practically kicked out upon the street, and left to their own devices upon the expiration of their periods of service.

The promoters of the banquet are anxious to obtain the names of all Crimean veterans who reside either upon Vancouver Island or upon the lower mainland.

Irish Moss for Invalids

Those who suffer from stomach or intestinal trouble where the mucous membrane is irritated, find Irish moss soothing and palatable.

It should be boiled until it produces a thick, nourishing jelly. It can be boiled with milk or water, although the former is better. If one wishes it sweetened or flavored, any fruit juice that the palate will stand can be added to it.

Coffee or chocolate prepared as for the table is preferable to the juices and extracts and is better for the health.

When making it for an invalid who has chronic stomach trouble, it is best to use the smallest amount of sugar.—New York Globe.

HERE AND THERE

Reports from Great Britain shows that the situation of the unemployed is growing more terrible as the winter approaches. What the government is able to do will alleviate the distress but little. The Salvation Army and other charitable organizations find their resources taxed to the utmost. Have we who dwell in plenty no duty to perform towards those of our own kind and kin who are suffering for bread? It is true that the little we can do will not go far to alleviate the suffering of innocent families. Yet have we a right to sit idle while we have the power to help even in the smallest way to relieve distress? We ought, it would seem to make some organized effort in this province and indeed throughout all Canada to help those who are so much worse off than we. Today we are not concerned with the causes of this awful destitution. We know that strong men and women and helpless children are, through no fault of their own suffering from the necessities of life. That there are those at home who could, if they would, contribute to their necessities does not make it right for us to shut our ears to their cry. Not only our common nationality but our common humanity calls upon us to do what is in our power to help those who are in such dire need.

Most women dislike exceedingly to realize that they are growing old. At least, one would think so who read the many devices that are resorted to for concealing the ravages of age. And yet old age is far more a matter of temperament and of feeling than of years. A dear old lady was recently talking with the greatest animation of events which had taken place more than fifty years ago, when pausing to recall a date, she suddenly realized the many years that had intervened. Yet she was not old. Her sympathies were as keen, her conceptions as vivid and her intellect as strong as it was in the days to which she was referring. There are natures so cold and so narrow that they seem never to have felt the happiness and buoyancy of youth, with its capacity for love and enjoyment. Not all the cosmetics in the world will keep their owners youthful. On the other hand, who has not known men and women whose hair was silvered and whose faces were lined, who could fill all whom they met with enthusiasm in any cause they advocated? Such old people have a singular attraction for the young. As long as their intellects are strong, they are leaders whether in the religious, the political or the social world, and when they go it is long before their places are adequately filled.

Most of the Eastern papers contain reviews of a new Canadian story, by a lady whose verses and short stories have made her name familiar to most magazine readers. The story is called "Anne of the Green Gables" and is written by Miss L. M. Montgomery of Prince Edward's Island. The following notice is from Onward:

This is one of the most wholesome and refreshing stories that has come our way for some time. Anne is a red-headed, scrappy little orphan girl, with a wonderful imagination that sometimes runs away with her. Green Gables is a farm on Prince Edward Island, the home of a sedate bachelor and maiden lady. This couple decides to adopt an orphan boy, but through a mistake Anne is dropped at the wayside station instead of the expected boy. After some deliberation they keep the odd-looking little girl, with her quaint ways and wonderful appreciation of everything around her. Anne's propensity to get into "scrapes" is marked. But she soon becomes the life and light of the house, and finally develops into a young woman of whom the quiet countryside is proud. The story abounds in humor and reminds one not a little of Marshall Saunders' "Tilda Jane." It is a wholesome story for young and old. It should be in our Sunday school libraries. We are glad to add it to the growing list of good work done by Canadians. It is a more beautiful scene for a novel is to be found in all Canada than in the home of Miss Montgomery. There is in this new country a splendid field for the novelist, and the man or woman who succeeds in presenting a real picture of Canadian life will deserve the gratitude of the country. By a book, if it were worthy of its subject, would do more to raise the tone of the people than volumes of sermons or thousands of political speeches.

There is a movement on foot to write the history of the pioneer Highland Scotch families of Canada. In any history of Canada the part played by the early Highland settlers is a conspicuous one. They were in many ways model pioneers, strong and resourceful, and many of them were possessed of commanding ability. Those interesting themselves in the present movement are Albert E. Mythen of Boston, a descendant of Col. John Cameron of Glenagary, and Col. J. P. MacMillan of St. Andrew's, Ontario.

A large number of teachers from the United States have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Morley Commission to visit the schools in Great Britain. As might have been expected it is the most intelligent and the most prominent of the teachers who have gone to visit the schools of the old land. One of these is Dr. William J. Felter, the principal of the Girls' High School of Brooklyn. Speaking to a correspondent of the New York Times, Dr. Felter said:

"Taken all around, I find the system of public schools in this country very vicious. I have already visited a large number of them in London, and was greatly impressed by all that I saw and heard. What struck me most, though, is the outdoor schools for children whose physical ailments preclude them from attending indoor schools. We have no such institutions in America that I am aware of, except the recreation schools, which are of a different order, as they are only meant for abandoned children who have been found in the streets. There are also many other features which I shall point out at a later date."

These outdoor schools are capable one would think of great expansion. There is no reason why many of the subjects now taught indoors should not be given outside. Especially is this true of nature study. Yet it is the very exceptional teacher who ventures to give these lessons in the environment which is suited to them. The plants, the rocks and the animals, or rather in most cases the representations of them, are brought into the schoolroom, instead of bringing the children to study them, where they live and grow or, in the case of the rocks, have been placed by the mighty forces of nature. It is not to be wondered at that progress in such studies is slow. While it is good that children who are ill should be allowed to pursue what studies they can in the open air it is not less important that healthy children shall have the opportunity of studying special subjects out-of-doors. Another of these visiting teachers, a lady, being asked her opinion of the work done in the schools which she visited, said "that while she thought that the English and American systems of public school teaching were very much on the same scale of perfection, she found that on this side girls received more technical education than in the United States. She had visited the four lower grades of two high schools, and in some of them the girls were being taught how to wash. In America we have nothing of this kind, although in some places our girls are being schooled in how to cook. Speaking about public school teachers, Miss Scudder said that an aspirant for a schoolmastership in England was forced to pass a more severe examination than in America in order to compete for the post. Nothing is more important in modern education than the tendency to raise.

The Superstitious Moslem.

The Moslem faith lays much stress upon rites and incantations for propitiating evil spirits which are supposed to be in constant attendance upon all daily concerns in the life of man. These spirits, called jinn, may become visible to a change in the density of their composition. Supposed to consist of minute particles, they become visible or invisible by a rapid expansion or diminution of their volume. The jinn are not all spirits of darkness, but comprise the good ones as well. These latter may be easily recognized on sight by their resplendent beauty, though the former type are hideous and disgusting. Many cultivated and highly educated persons claim to have seen jinn, and to have conversed with them, and they display charms and talismans for summoning the good and warding off the evil demons.

During the feast of Ramadan all evil spirits are supposed to be strictly confined within the bowels of the earth and unable to cause any disturbance. At all other times the "sons of the faithful" seek to exclude these undesirable attendants from the houses by scattering salt or iron filings about the floor, especially if the room be empty.

The favorite lurking places of jinn are supposed to be crossroads, vacant houses, baths, uncovered jugs or pails and yawning mouths. This necessitates the covering up and thorough sprinkling of receptacles which might harbor spirits, whenever the householder leaves home. Special prayers for such preventions are also authorized by the Koran.

The Moslem is constantly repeating pious phrases, such as, "In the name of God the compassionate, the merciful," to drive away evil presences whenever some business transaction is undertaken. This is the custom before entering or leaving a house, meeting or parting from a friend, partaking of a meal, taking a bath or killing any animal for food. By this means the bad jinn and any harmful consequences are averted.

Supposedly for a similar reason a continuous antiphonal chant is kept up by the watchers at deathbed from the moment the last spark of life has departed, continuing until the actual burial has taken place.—Harper's Weekly.

Kit of the Toronto Mail and Empire has the following remarks to make about the Woman's Page in the ordinary newspaper:

"Very few journals permit the woman editor or contributor to write of larger issues than fancy, love, marriage, how to take care of the baby and cook hubby's dinner. Men have a crude idea that this is all women care to read. What do women want with a 'leader' on their page? Little paragraphs on the latest fashions, face cream, mince pies, and how to crochet booties—these are what the women want," says the Man Who Knows It All. "One would think male editors never married. . . . It is not paying women a very high compliment to suppose that they want only such stuff for their reading."

Every woman who has had anything to do with Canadian journalism will recognize the truth and justice of the remarks just quoted. When the man editor sits down and proceeds to inform you in all seriousness "what kind of stuff women read," you just turn to tell him what you think of his estimate of feminine tastes—and sometimes, if you are very brave and Irish, you do tell him—but it does not do one bit of good. He remains of the opinion that the only material of interest to women is deadly drivel about sweethearts, daisy chains and recipes for removal of wrinkles.

The woman who wants advice on domestic subjects is not going to seek it in the newspaper or magazine columns—not if she has any glimmering of common-sense. If the jelly won't tell him the dearest infant in the world has spasms, she is not going to sit down and write to "Marguerite," "Marquise" or any other conductor of a woman's department. She is going straight to a wise mother or a wiser grandmother. Should the affection of her husband show signs of diminution or disappearance, into whatever limbo contains husband's vanished regard, she does not dream of writing to ask the newspaper person how to recapture what proved so fleeting, but concludes if she be a woman of discernment, to hold her tongue about her troubles.

In these days when women seem nearly all gates thrown open before her eager young feet, it is too absurd to ask that paragraphs "of interest to women" should concern themselves only with rice croquettes and cures for eczema. There are cook books and medical books by the multitude. But, in the name of all that is wise and broadening, let the column for woman or the woman's page be something more than slush for the sentimental.

New Delicacy

A general working rule for muscovites may be given, as follows: Steve finely one pound of puree from any kind of canned or fresh fruit, sweetened with sugar or four ounces of sugar. Meanwhile prepare a custard either of a very rich kind which calls for a pint of cream and the yolks of four eggs, or a simpler sort, cooking it, of course, till it is of the right consistency, dissolving in it three-quarters of an ounce of gelatine. When the gelatine is dissolved and perfectly blended, stir in the fruit pulp or jam, or whatever is used, adding more sugar if it seems necessary. Set the pan containing the mixture on ice and whip till it begins to stiffen; then beat into it a pint of very stiffly-whipped cream and a wineglass of any desired liquor or wine. Pack this mixture into a mold, put the mold into ice or into an ice cave, any way so that it is packed

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS

The Company has been formed for the purpose of refining crude oil and manufacturing Asphaltum, Lubricating Oils, Distillate and Greases.

SITE FOR REFINERY

A site has been secured from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at Port Moody, on the Burrard Inlet, which embraces the whole of the site of their old terminus and depot at this point, covering eight and a half acres, with a waterfrontage of 1,500 feet. This is a most advantageous site for a refinery, and a valuable asset to the company, having a deep-water anchorage, and over half the land being cleared and ready for erection of the works.

MARKETS

The amount of Asphalt used in THIS PROVINCE ALONE last year was over 6,000 tons, and all Canada imported from the United States over 60,000 tons, all of which would be liable to 35 per cent duty if a local manufactory existed, as the duty, which is at present in abeyance, would then be enforced.

In addition to the local market we would have Australia, New Zealand, China and Japan, all of whom import from California, and as we have better freight rates than that country and a preferential tariff with New Zealand, we shall undoubtedly secure those markets.

CAPACITY OF PLANT

The proposed refinery will have a capacity of at least 6,000 barrels per month and will be constructed as to be easily enlarged. The company have entered into a contract for a period of five years to the extent of 6,000 barrels or more per month at $1.45 per barrel at tidewater, Vancouver.

ESTIMATED PROFITS

The estimated cost of operation per barrel of crude oil (42 U. S. gallons) is as follows:
Cost of crude oil at tidewater, Vancouver.....$1.45
Cost of refining and manufacture 56

Per barrel$2.01
The estimated value of the product of a barrel of crude oil, in bulk at refinery, is as follows:
45 per cent Asphalt at $17.50 per ton
2,000 lbs.$1,225
15 per cent Skid Oil at 2 cents per gal. 567
5 per cent Gas Distillate at $2 per barrel.... 10
10 per cent Neutral Oil at 15c per gal. 63
20 per cent Pale Red Oil at 15c per gal. 1,512

Giving a profit of $12,144 per month, or $145,728 per annum, which, after deducting $8,000 per annum for the dividend and the Preferred Shares and allowing $30,000 per annum for depreciation, etc., leaves a balance of $107,728 (or over 60 per cent per annum) for distribution on the ordinary shares.

BRILLIANT WORK OF Y.M.C.A. BOYS

Junior Track Team's Record
One of Which All Are Proud

OVER HUNDRED AWARDS

Young Athletes Captured B. C.
Championship—In Training for Next Year

The capture of one hundred and twelve trophies in the course of two or three months and the landing of the junior British Columbia track championship at Vancouver, is, briefly, the record of the Y.M.C.A. team, a picture of the members of which appears in this issue. Physical Director W. G. Findlay, and every individual directly or indirectly identified with that organization, are proud of the season's achievements. They believe that they have gathered together material which, with training of the proper kind, will develop into intermediate and senior aggregations capable of specializing any bunch of track athletes that can be assembled in British Columbia. To do that is their ambition. To bring the principal C.A.A.U. honors of western Canada to Victoria is the goal they have in mind and they feel confident that their endeavors will be crowned with glorious success either next year or that following.

Record Summarized
Their record for 1936, while notable is easily summarized. They started in with one or two members. The prospect wasn't bright, but they didn't lose courage. The genial and indefatigable Mr. Findlay spurred them on to greater efforts. Through his work others were induced to join the little band. It is stated that there were one or two who donned the track uniform who had never before gone in for that form of sport and it is further asserted that those who came out thus for the first time did exceedingly well. Through this energy the Y.M.C.A. had at its back a united body of young sprinters and athletes when the annual provincial meets were announced. A team went to Vancouver on the 1st of July and captured the British Columbia junior championship—a feat by no means insignificant when it is remembered the disadvantages under which they labored at the outset and the somewhat formidable galaxy of stars against whom they were pitted.

Individual Wins
Among the individuals from among the Y.M.C.A. representatives who were particularly successful, might be mentioned Holmes, who carried off the 100 and the 220 yard events. Despite the fact that he had to compete with the fastest men of the mainland, and that it was expected that he would not have the slightest chance, he gave the Terminal City boys a surprise they are not likely to forget for a time. He completely outstripped them all in both the distances mentioned, romping to the line an easy victor. Then there was Heater, who won the shot put. Here is another young man, a special protégé of Physical Director Findlay, whom the latter predicts, is destined to take a prominent part in the athletic events of the Pacific coast before many years. Although only sixteen or seventeen years of age, he possesses the physique of many a heavyweight man of mature years. His opponents were no match for him; in fact, the individual who came nearest to his throw was so far away from the mark that the contest devolved into somewhat of a joke. He established a record. Heater is always in training, and he will enter the arena next season when the officials of the physical department of the Y.M.C.A. anticipate that he will win more honor for himself and the institution under whose auspices he will compete.

Win the Relay.
Another accomplishment the organization achieved as a body was the winning of the relay race of 880 yds. Those who represented the local Y. M. C. A. in this were Messrs. Clarke, Agnew, Heater and Sproule. Although this was not the quartette picked, Heater never pretending to be a sprinter of particular merit, the Victorians had no difficulty in landing the premier award.

It is only fair to state that several of those who were prominently identified with the Y. M. C. A. track team during the past season are not included among those whose photographs are published. Those omitted follow: H. C. Holmes, O. Finch, N. Gowen and A. Clark.

Winter's Work.
While the summer season is at an end, Physical Director Findlay is not slackening efforts to keep the young men of athletic inclinations together. Plans have been made for the rearrangement of the interior of the Broad street association quarters. The front rooms will be made as cheerful as possible and special provision is being made for the accommodation of our boys and young men. The latter have been organized in junior and senior harrier's clubs. These bodies will hold regular runs throughout the winter months, thus enabling them to maintain the best of form. When this exercise is not possible they will be given instruction in various forms of gymnastics, and at times when such work is not in progress they will have the billiard and other apartments in which to seek recreation to while away their spare moments. By this means it is thought that the members will be brought closer together in a social way, and that, when the spring arrives, it will be possible to start preparations for the formation of another championship junior and senior field track team of equal ability with every prospect of success.

New Building Wanted.
"These are the plans we have in view," remarked Mr. Findlay yesterday. "But," he added, "you know we cannot do all we would like to accomplish with the comparatively poor accommodation available at the present Y. M. C. A. rooms. We want a new building and it is more to the point, we're going to have it. The recent expansion of the work in all departments demands it, and you may rest assured that when the public is as convinced of that fact as we are now—and it won't be long before they are—there won't be any trouble in raising the funds required. The Y. M. C. A. you may depend on it, is going to be a prominent factor as far as sport is concerned on this coast."

The referee of the Burns-Squires fight was a Jew, and a former amateur champion of Queensland, and quite a good man at the game. He provided the amusing side. He started in full evening dress. After the first round he took off his coat; a couple of rounds later he took off his waistcoat and rolled back his sleeves; a bit later his collar went; and at the end he looked about as tired as Squires himself. But he had some hard work separating them.

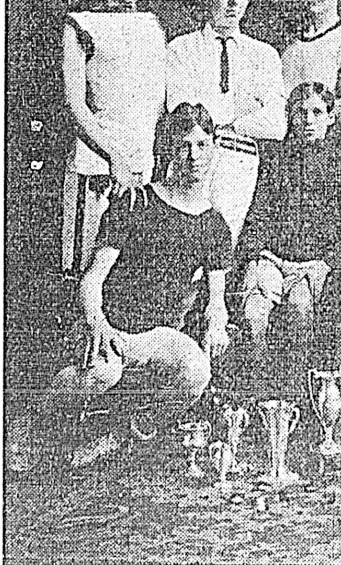

When the first Ketchell-Papke battle was fought in Milwaukee it was predicted that that city would become the mecca of the professional boxer, and that some of the important events would be taken away from the promoters on the Pacific coast. It looked this way when the Papke-Kelly bout was lined up by the Milwaukee Boxing club, but, just when things looked the brightest, the governor steps in and kills the entire game. That is what the promoters of Milwaukee get for being too ambitious.

SOCCER DISCUSSED BY LADYSMITH

Pacific Coast League and Its Prospects From Mill City
Standpoint

"There is not very much in the sporting world to gossip about this week," says the Ladysmith Ledger. "So far the football season opened very quietly. We are now well into the Pacific League series, and yet no excitement has as yet been developed. All the same the home club is the only one in the league which has won its away match. Vancouver failed in Nanaimo, Seattle suffered ignominious defeat at Vancouver, and Nanaimo and the pride of Victoria was humbled here a week ago. Ladysmith has the unique distinction therefore, of being the only team in the league which has achieved success on foreign soil.

It would be foolish to exaggerate the significance of the performance.

The team would have been in a poor way indeed had they failed to account for Victoria on the Royal athletic grounds. Still the next eleven may find it a more difficult accomplishment, and meantime we are strengthening our team for our next ordeal. The team that beats the Vancouverians in the Terminal City is pretty near going to carry off the pennant. This said without any intention of detracting from the merits of our old friends and rivals up above. We know what we have got to face there, but Vancouver has a big choice, and will put up a stiff game on their own grounds.

"The home club is due to face this ordeal next Saturday and it will be interesting to see how it fares. The team, it is hoped, will be stronger than it has ever been before. Just how strong it is we shall be better able to tell after the game on Sunday against Will Ellis' picked team. I may as well say here that I do not like the placing of the home team for the match. Mind, I am not shirking any responsibility, nor am I one of those who, whenever they fail to get their own way, begin to knock.

for Vancouver next Saturday. Adam may or may not be all that his admirers claim at centre-half, but since I have seen him he has never been in condition to play the position. More than that he is without doubt the most dangerous centre-forward in the Province and seeing that we are trying out new forwards should certainly have been in his place.

"However, the team is selected and at least the game should show us whether or not we have a substitute for Jimmy. In any case the boys will give a good account of themselves, and if the visitors are as good as Ellis declares them to be the game should be the best seen on the grounds this season."

League Standing
The league table now stands as follows:

	Played	Won	Lost	Pts.
Nanaimo	2	0	4	0
Ladysmith	2	0	4	0
Vancouver	1	1	2	2
Seattle	1	1	2	2

LONGBOAT CAPTURED MONTREAL ROAD RACE

Fast Time Made In the Recent Long Distance Contest

Montreal, Que., Oct. 27.—The independent harrier road race of five miles for the trophy offered by the Montreal Star, resulted in another victory for the Indian Longboat. His time was 1-25-43—this being about a minute faster than the Indian made in the same race last year, but over a minute slower than Longboat made in his exhibition race over the same course in June last. Homer, of Halifax, was a good second, finishing thirty seconds after Longboat, while Wood, of Montreal, was third, two yards behind Homer. The Irish Canadians, of Toronto, won the team trophy. Sellen, of the same club as Longboat, being fourth and the team also capturing tenth and fourteenth places. Upwards of 100,000 witnessed the running of the race.

turn, and shot it into the net. One spectator became excited and leaped too far out of one of the boxes. He lost his hat, and in reaching for it rolled out himself. The fall stunned him, and there was some little confusion. Young and Masterson were both ordered off the field for a five-minute interval, and enlivened the way to the bench by continuing their scrap, which was promptly stopped by Mr. Wagborne.

Tommy Burns says that he is to get $30,000 for his fight with Jack Johnson in Australia, win, lose, or draw. The fight is to take place on the 1st of December, and, Patti-like, Tommy says it will be his last fight. Perhaps the colored man will attend to that part of it.

The Eastern league has revived the old story of the reduction in players' salaries. It is true that an excessive pay roll has forced more than one good club to the wall, and this year of grace is no exception to the rule. However, there is very little sense in establishing a salary limit. It is never observed or at least the club that tries to live up to it is soon outclassed by a less scrupulous club, which, in some manner of means, manages to pay bigger money to its players, either by bonuses or other indirect methods. In providing amusement for the fickle public it is an axiom that only the best will pay, and baseball clubs are among those amusements that touch the public pulse quicker than any other entertainment. A losing ball club is, therefore, a losing proposition, while a winning club is a good money-maker if the owner thereof is not paying ruinous salaries to his men, which is likely to be the case.

Milwaukee was one of the few cities in the country which has up to time stood for pugilistic encounters. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston, San Francisco in Maine and a few Western cities still stand for contests over ten rounds. Three, four and six round bouts are permitted in Philadelphia, New York and various cities in the New England states.

And talking about boxers of some heft, that was a mighty dismal showing the rejuvenated Kid McCoy made in New York last week against a second-rate unknown of doubtful ability. The old hero of the "corkcreeper" punch was good to look upon when he stepped into the ring, but the stamina was not there when he commenced to work. McCoy faded away rapidly, and it would have been considerable on the part of those around him to stop the uneven battle. There comes a time in the life of every athlete, be he boxer, swimmer, runner or equestrian, that he commences to go back. When this stage is reached the man sometimes realizes it himself, and retires. But, after an absence of a long time from his favorite sport, he becomes possessed that he is still good, and wants to try again. This is more especially so of professional boxers of ability, and many a sorry show is made by these one-time ring idols when they essay a "second time on earth."

A number of footballers in this country will recall the visit of the professional Maoris to the old country a score of years ago. On that occasion they were badly managed and were most unsuccessful. It would appear, however, that Maori footballers are a dissatisfied lot, for recently a band of them visited Australia, and played some of the Sydney league organizations. They only took part in a limited number then quit, declaring that they were not receiving their financial due, so that the two most important matches arranged were not played. Seeing that the Maoris had the best part of $5,000 for their share of the opening games it would appear that they had very little to grumble at.

AMUSEMENTS

"Paid in Full"

On the stage of the Victoria theatre tonight will be given Wagenhals and Kemper's great play of present day life in America, by Eugene Walter,

"Paid in Full." Breathing strength in every line this play is so unquestion-ably out of the ordinary that it seems safe to predict a most roscate future for it. For a decade now it has been the custom to write the so-called American play either in the tortuous valleys of the west or in the drawing rooms of the effete east, but not in this instance. Mr. Walter has taken as his central figures the men and women of every day America and they are spontaneously wholesome figures, too, not mere mannikins jumping at the pulling of a string. There is life, full blooded, virile life in all of them,

a life we must needs recognize and appreciate and stick with throughout all time. Such characters Mr. Walter has created as "Jimmy Smith"; "Captain Williams"; "Joe"; and "Emma Brooks"; and they are of our native soil; they are the men and women we rub shoulders with every day in our own life and it would seem that they are the one best understood. The theme of "Paid in Full" is different, vastly different, from the conventional cut and squirt play, and its presentation is made in a wholesome, forcible fashion.

There is a refreshing treatment of social conditions in "Paid in Full" and for the best characterization of these various characters Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper have secured an extraordinary brilliant cast of players.

The New Grand

Taking through his body forty amperes and 250,000 volts of electricity, enough to kill a regiment of ordinary men, is what Lundy is doing at the New Grand at all the night performances this week. His exhibition is not only a thrilling and thrilling and he challenges electricians or scientists to prove that his work is not genuine.

Owing to the fact that the electric current is not on in the afternoons, he is not able to give his exhibitions at the matinees, but only at the two night performances. An unusually long list of other big acts makes up a fine afternoon entertainment. These include the Ioleen Sisters, sharp shooters and wire walkers, the Four American

Trumpeters, in a military musical act;

Kenyon and Lecky, singing and talking act; Grace Passmore, coon shout-er; Dick and Barney Ferguson, comedians and dancers; besides the illustrated song and two good moving pictures.

Pantages

Mirth and melody hold sway at the Pantages this week. Sweet singing, clever dancing and fun galore from the monkey circus. While the bill is not as large as was anticipated, it is a very pleasing show as a whole. Ryder has a number of very clever monkeys, and succeeds in keeping his audience continually interested. This act will especially appeal to the children. The Sulchards, an Australian team of fun-makers, introduce some very good singing and the big comedy part of the act is represented by a ludicrous burlesque on the directorate gown. Thomas and Payne are genuine comedians formed of exceptional ability. Singing and dance better and succeed in winning the audience from the start.

La Petite Lauri is a very pretty little girl, who does some very graceful as well as difficult contortion work. This act is well staged, and is a decided factor to the performance. "Summertime," the song illustrated, by Harry DeVerra, is a catchy thing, and the motion pictures on the biograph are classy.

Sir Christopher Furness, chairman of the big shipbuilding and shipown-ing firm of Furness, Withy & Co.,

made a striking proposal at a conference with 135 delegates of 19 trades unions. He proposed that the unions should take over the company's yards as a going concern at a price fixed by arbitration, as strikes would have to be a thing of the past if shipbuilding was to flourish. That the trade unionists employed by his firm became limited co-partners on certain conditions. A works council shall be formed to settle all disputes, or refer them to a properly accredited court of arbitration.

Sir Christopher said that strikes would have to be a thing of the past if the business of shipbuilding was to flourish again, and then submitted the following schemes:

"The trade unionists being capable, organized powerful bodies, why should they not go into business on their own account? They have the capital and the organizing capacity. Why not try their hands here? I offer to your unions, either singly or in conjunction, to hand over to them our contract at this point, as long as concerns for such sum as may be determined by a recognized firm of assessors appointed by joint nomination.

Having regard to the conditions of the industry, it is possible that upon consideration you may perceive certain difficulties and disadvantages calculated to prevent you from accepting the proposition just presented to you.

"In such case there is before you the alternative which forms my second proposition, and it is this: I invite you to become limited co-partners in these shipbuilding yards, as distinct from the shipowning and other ramifications of the firm of Furness,

Withy & Co., Ltd."

Sir Christopher said the initial condition was that the employee partners should prove their good faith by be-

UNEXPECTED SPURT OF STOCK MARKET

Men Who Sold Short Because of Mr. Bryan's Visit Were Mistaken

New York, Oct. 27.—The characteristic feature of the stock market today was its great firmness, in spite of its intense dullness. The rate of activity declined at times during the session to the point of idleness.

The first hour supplied most of the activity and most of the movement. Some of the buying at that time came from professional leaders who had sold stocks short on the assumption that the political demonstrations last night would weaken stocks today. This assumption was based on the analogy of previous appearances of Mr. Bryan in New York in the course of political campaigns, which induced some subsequent liquidation of securities. There was no such selling today, and the light demand was sufficient to send prices upwards.

The rise in prices, slight as it was, served to bring the market to the highest point it has touched since the reaction early in September. This reaction followed the Maine elections and the denial by E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill of many rumors which had kept in circulation regarding the properties with which they are connected with marked effect in carrying prices to the highest level touched up to that time since the financial crisis of last fall.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $3,984,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(Furnished by F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, Oct. 27.—Trading was somewhat more active in the stock market with prices generally higher and a slight increase in the investment demand has been noted. A favorable feature has been the comparatively small offerings of new issues, although a feeling of hesitancy is still apparent among traders due to the uncertainties incidental to our presidential election still there are signs which seem to indicate that a general revival in all lines will take place after the election ceases to be a disturbing factor. Metal issues have been conspicuously strong. The steel stocks, in good demand and anticipation of a favorable quarterly statement and the copper stocks have been accumulated. Signs of strength in metal. Foreign markets have shown a better tendency and it is reported that foreigners are quietly replacing lines which were liquidated during the Balkan difficulties. This was very strong at near the best levels of the day.

lots to respond to the strength at Liverpool and on this side if Argentine crop damage is confirmed and this will start a bigger bull market than we have yet seen.
Corn—As yet there has been nothing to frighten the big short interests to cover or cause much replacing of long corn sold out during the fine weather early in the month. Cash prices were steady in this market today and at Kansas City, cash corn was bringing fancy premiums over December. Yields are disappointing in many sections of Illinois and Iowa and the Kansas crop is now estimated much below what the official report made it a month ago. Should there be a continuation of bad weather to interfere with shipments or cause poor grading there is likely to be a bull turn in this market on covering of the big short interest.
Oats—The market showed a decidedly better tone in sympathy with wheat and corn.
Provisions—Provisions opened firm, had considerable setback from first prices on a little selling pressure from the north. Lard had an upward movement about twenty cents for May. Pork had a good recovery from the low point of the morning and ribs were a little higher. The market is in a position to have an advance to much better level if opposition in the big interests of the trade is withdrawn.
